Applicants are reminded that membership is by election of the Committee, and that to protect the character of ASCHB, the Constitution normally requires that persons invited shall be professionally engaged in work related to the conservation of historic buildings and monuments.

Applications are invited from individuals who can show evidence in their application of a contribution made towards the objectives and aims of the association, for example in the fields of publication or research or other distinctive contribution.

Applications are also accepted from those who are students or are seeking employment in a conservation discipline with a supporting letter from their tutor or prospective employer.

On accepting the Committee's invitation to membership of ASCHB, the applicant will be required to sign an undertaking that he or she will not use membership for commercial advancement or influence.

The Committee reserves the right to rescind invitations in cases of abuse.
