ASCHB 2025

SOCIAL HOUSING AND THE HISTORIC ENVIRONMENT

CAN A BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF HISTORY
AND CONSERVATION SUPPORT ONE OF SOCIETY'S MOST PRESSING NEEDS?

ASCHB's 2025 conference reviews the history of social housing in Britain: from the medieval hospital to the most recent developments; from charitable foundations, almshouses, model philanthropic schemes and Victorian Housing Acts, to Homes For Heroes and 20th-century council housing. How does being a 'heritage asset' affect social housing's care and continued use?

Invited speakers discuss a critical issues including funding, the needs and wishes of residents, reconciliation with current housing standards, problematic detailing, estate identity, erosion of public space, changing demographics, and climate change... strands that at the end of the day will be brought together in another memorable ASCHB plenary.

Come along and be part of the discussion!
